These three months – December, January and February – span three seasons of the church's year. Advent is the beginning of a new liturgical year and prepares us for the Christmas season (which extends for 40 days to 2 February, commemorating the presentation of Jesus in the Temple). Lent then begins with Ash Wednesday on 10 February and extends 40 days until Easter (excluding Sundays). The 40 days – of Christmas and Lent – is a symbolic number from the Old Testament. There were 40 days before and after Noah's flood. Moses spent 40 years as a shepherd before being called to lead his people from slavery – and then spent 40 years in the wilderness with them (including a fast of 40 days and nights while receiving the 10 commandments). Elijah spent 40 days in the desert before encountering God. Jonah gave the people of Nineveh 40 days to repent. Each occasion was a time of testing and renewal. This isn't normally how we think of Christmas and the New Year…or is it?
